

RedPrairie On-Demand Solutions

For more than 35 years, RedPrairie's best-of-breed supply chain, workforce, and all-channel retail solutions have put commerce in motion from the smallest warehouses to the most complex distribution centers. Whether your company is looking for a low-cost solution to manage inventory in a low-volume production facility or construction yard, or a decentralized network with customized inventory and transportation planning needs, our suite of On-Demand software solutions can help.

RedPrairie is the only company that offers a mix of solution functionality, delivery models and prices that can accommodate any business – no matter how big, small, complex or simple each part of your operation might be. With SaaS-based solutions online with hundreds of customers across a variety of industries – including third-party logistics services, wholesale distribution, manufacturing, food service, retail, and more – our On-Demand WMS and TMS solutions complement RedPrairie's ability to offer the broadest, most flexible SaaS supply chain solution for any company, facility or network.

On-Demand Warehouse

RedPrairie's On-Demand Warehouse integrates inventory and warehouse management processes through a single centralized system, providing companies with real-time visibility and control over their inventory across multiple warehouses, or within a single location.

New Supply Chain Thinking

Hundreds of companies worldwide rely on RedPrairie for complete visibility and collaboration across the supply chain. With a pay-as-you-go model, and unlimited users and transactions per facility, RedPrairie's On-Demand Warehouse not only saves a typical warehouse thousands of dollars per month, but produces a positive ROI in as little as 30 days.

By providing real-time inventory visibility and automation to your most important warehouse processes from purchasing and receiving, to order management and fulfillment, we take care of the system so you can take care of your business. RedPrairie's On-Demand Warehouse enables warehouses to quickly deploy and easily integrate with front-office and back-office operations, with no hardware to buy, software to install, or technical staff to maintain. In addition, system deployments, performance, reliability, and upgrades are automatically managed by RedPrairie. Since we charge by site/facility, and not by transaction or per user, companies can easily and cost-effectively add users and warehouses to drive growth and stay one step ahead of the competition.

On-Demand Transportation

RedPrairie's On-Demand Transportation offers transportation professionals a dynamic and robust suite of functions to address any shipping scenario. The platform, feature-rich and field-proven, is recognized as the essential operating system powering some of the largest and most successful corporate transportation enterprises in the world.

Pioneering Principles

For decades, RedPrairie has led the marketplace with capabilities built on a state-of-the-art technology platform. RedPrairie delivers proprietary software and integrated process with best-of-breed partnerships that bring proven value to all of our clients. Coupling the latest Web-based delivery models and state-of-the-art optimization technologies with world-class hosting, RedPrairie provides arguably the most flexible transportation solution available today. We've taken all of our domain expertise and real-world experience to make a flexible, yet pre-configured TMS solution available through the cloud. Avoid hefty initial capital investment, and costs associated with software, maintenance, network and infrastructure upgrades, and specialized staff. Empower your team to focus on what they do best while RedPrairie does the same.

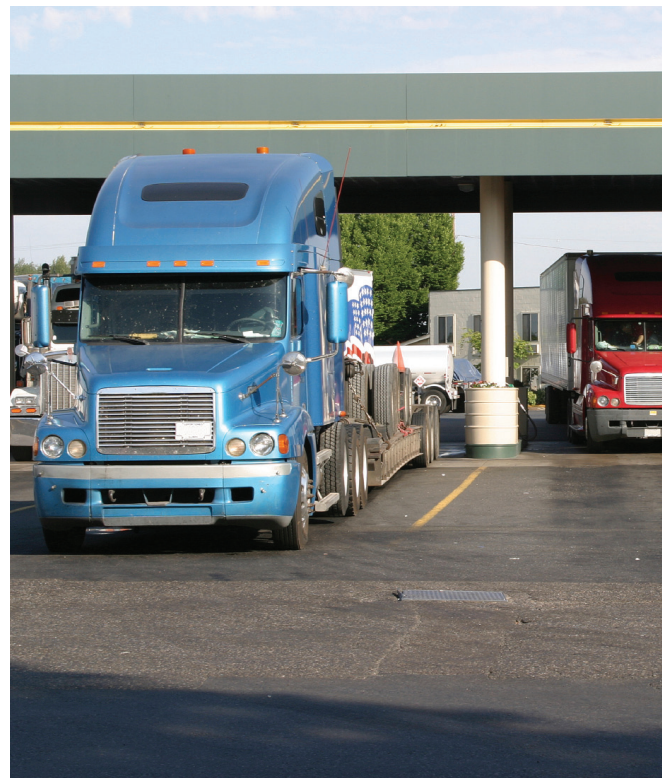

From procurement to planning, execution to trading partner collaboration and visibility, settlement and billing to reporting and analysis, RedPrairie On-Demand Transportation will support your needs today and in the future.
